Adam Lanza's "Shocked Beyond Belief" Posts

Compiled by Reed Coleman

This document contains the text of every surviving post made by Adam Lanza to the forum "Shocked Beyond Belief," under the username "Smiggles." According to his user profile, Smiggles posted 296 times to the forum.[1] This document contains 288 of the posts. Not all of the posts are available because out of the 288 posts, the shooter subsequently erased 60 of them, by editing each post and replacing the text with "(Redacted)." Of those 60 "redacted" posts, the content of many can still be surmised by reading the quoted text from users later in the thread. Still, a total of 35 posts were deleted and never quoted, so those are probably gone for good. The entire archive of this forum went offline in July 2014, when the domain expired.

Many times, Lanza simply posted a link to a YouTube video. I've labeled what each was, but again, only if the video is still available; some aren't. A few other posts have notes, where I thought useful. The posts are in chronological order, which allows for a few observations:

1 Smiggles wasn't a particularly active user; 300 posts may seem like a lot, but it was over the course of almost two years, and not spaced out regularly. There are bursts of activity, and then weeks or months of silence. In other words, this cannot possibly represent all of his online activity during that time. Few users of the forum probably even had an impression of him.

2 Smiggles actually posted more than 296 times. There was at least one major purge of inactive forum threads between 2010 and 2013, and at least some of the threads that Smiggles participated in were involved. Smiggles himself created a thread observing this on 14 January 2011 – "Why did over half of all posts get deleted?" – although this thread itself is one where his "redacted" posts do not survive. The Smiggles account was registered on 30 December 2009. The oldest post from him that I can find is from 2 April 2010. However, it can be verified that he was indeed already posting during that three-month gap, as the "Wayback Machine" internet archive captured an index page at the forum's original host that includes the topic Smiggles started, "Comprehensive list of mass murderers and their attributes"[2] – presumably where he shared the document described in the official police report as "colgam01 – Spreadsheet ranking mass murderers by name, number killed, number injured, types of weapons used, and disposition" (note that the spreadsheet's filename colgam01 is an abbreviation of "Columbine Game"). Only the index page showing the title of this thread was archived, not the thread itself, so there's no way to verify exactly when it was posted, but the internet archive captured it on 29 March 2010, so it was before that. Further down on the same index page, Smiggles also had started the topic "Sam Brown? (The Killing of America)" with a post date of 11 March 2010, which marks the earliest known post from Smiggles (we can verify the

---

1 The forum wasn't actually located at, or known as, "Shocked Beyond Belief" (SBB) at the time that Lanza was posting there; it was located at http://www.columbinegame.com/discuss/ and was referred to as the "Super Columbine Massacre RPG" forum, or SCMRPG; hence why SBB has the subtitle "THE NEW HOME OF SUPER COLUMBINE MASSACRE RPG DISCUSSION FORUM." The data was later ported over to the new domain after the forum changed ownership.

2 http://web.archive.org/web/20100329010952/http://columbinegame.com/discuss/viewforum.php?f=9&sid=342b06e54fc359c0a575ee039eba2f9e date of this post because it did not have any replies. Not so with the "comprehensive list" thread.) Also, the internet archive of the Smiggles profile at this original forum domain shows a post count of 353, so 296 is likely the number of posts that were ported to the Shocked Beyond Belief forum when that domain took over.

3 Whenever and however he earned a reputation on the forum as a pedophile, that thread is apparently among those purged. Before collecting all the posts in one place, it seemed that his reputation came from a 20 December 2011 post in the thread "Burn all the PS3, Wii, 360, Flatscreens, Smart phones, ipads," in which he said, "Literature is simply another coping mechanism for children who've been mindfucked by culturapists. They're carried to other worlds in the stream of semen." This did become something of an infamous post, but comments going back as early as November 2011 show he already had that reputation, such as a 7 November comment from another user: "Holy shit, she's 13. Smiggles, I found a girl for you." Three days before that, Smiggles posted: "I don't think there should be any age of consent, but since no matter what I say everyone will accuse me of just wanting to justify some latent pedophilia I allegedly have…" which seems to be the earliest available indication of his reputation, already in place.

4 He deleted posts in four waves. The deletions occured on 20 September 2010; 1 November 2010; 11 February 2011; and 28 May 2011.

5 It doesn't appear that Lanza deleted posts based on their content; the surviving "redacted" posts are no more damning than any of the non-redacted posts, and he continued to post, including his most personal entries, for a year after the last mass-deletion. From this, it appears that mass-deleting posts was done more on principle or out of habit than to hide any specific information, which jibes with the official report's interview with an unnamed friend, who said that the shooter liked to reformat his hard drive regularly as a way of "staying off the grid." It's also worth noting that each mass-deletion is followed by a gap of about two months in Lanza's posting activity. Possibly, these mass-deletions were instances where Lanza had decided to erase his presence and leave the forum, but each time he ended up coming back – until 28 February 2012, when he finally left for good, but, curiously, did not bother to delete any of his posts.

6 He requests a PM (private message) at one point, in "Topic for all Columbine-related movies/tv shows." There's no indication that anyone ever messaged him, but it's likely that someone on the forum contacted him directly at some point. After all, the hard drive contents listed in the official report read:

> Smigglesnsuch: Instant Message history with SixteenBitElder "The Stranger" and "Smiggles" (presumably the shooter) from December 2010 – February 2011. Discussion that focuses on gaming, homosexual fantasies, and day to day activities.[3] – suggesting that "The Stranger" or "SixteenBitElder" was someone he met under the moniker "Smiggles," which he (apparently) only used on this forum (or, perhaps, one of those two usernames was Smiggles, but the conversation was at last saved in a directory associated with his activity in this forum).

R.C. · October 2014

3 Official Report, book 4, file 00194691

KEY

The posts are laid out as follows:

[post number] page number date | time

Title of discussion thread
Text of Lanza's post [Notes from Reed Coleman and post deletion dates]

The bracketed "post number" simply represents consecutive, chronological numbering, which has been added to the posts for ease of reference. The "page number" is the page on which each post may be seen in the context of the surrounding discussion in the accompanying document "Shocked Beyond Belief: Complete Threads" (also available on schoolshooters.info). The date and time refer to when Lanza initially submitted each post, not to later edits. The times are given in UTC (Coordinated Universal Time). Lanza's posts are presented exactly as he typed them. We have not made any corrections or alterations to the text, except for deleting blank lines to clarify where posts begin and end. Posts by other forum members and other quotes within Lanza's posts are indented. When Lanza initiated the discussion thread, this is noted next to the first post.

The post numbers changed in version 2.0 because of the addition of newly discovered posts from the thread "Non-Columbine spree movies." Version 2.1 added page numbers for these posts.

ADAM LANZA'S "SHOCKED BEYOND BELIEF" POSTS

[1] p. 1
2 April 2010 | 5:28 AM

Scenes from (old) movies you'd like to see in the theater
[deleted; no copy found]
[Possibly "Both annoyed my dog" or "a small one"; probably a picture of a hamster given later posts. Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[2] p. 5
10 April 2010 | 2:26 AM

What's your favorite national anthem?
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[3]
10 April 2010 | 4:15 AM

Weird scenes in Disney movies
There has been a great deal of controversy regarding Disney films. I believe that they should be boycotted for including such deplorable images. [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[4] p. 18
20 April 2010

What is fun?
Hamsters. Everything about them is amazing. [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[5]
12 June 2010

Miscellaneous banter
http://img411.imageshack.us/img411/9021/shirts1vc3.jpg http://img376.imageshack.us/img376/3417/shirts2uv3.jpg [Pictures of shirts that match the Columbine killers, apparently edited by Smiggles. Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[6]
23 May 2010

Congratulations lporter!
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[7]
2 July 2010

Miscellaneous banter
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[8] p. 1,352
5 July 2010 | 1:00 AM

Non-Columbine spree movies
My favorite two are Bloody Wednesday (It was significantly better than The Shining even with its many editing errors) and Stalking Laura. It's impressively detailed for a "The following is based on a true story." movie, like it's the more fictionally-oriented Richard Farley version of Zero Hour. It's my favorite movie of any genre.

[Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[9] p. 1,353
6 July 2010 | 5:54 AM

Non-Columbine spree movies
I'm probably the only one here who would like Bloody Wednesday, but Stalking Laura is completely different. You should definitely see that one. [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[10] p. 1,353
6 July 2010 | 8:58 AM

Non-Columbine spree movies
I had the same reaction. I was wondering "Where is this going?" when he was being chased in the hotel, and then the teddy bear suddenly blew me away.
I originally found out about the movie by looking up George Sodini videos last year. One of them was the restaurant shooting scene with a title like "Pittsburgh shooting caught on security cameras". [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[11] p. 34
6 July 2010

What are you watching right now?
Now I'm obligated to unleash this.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0K-foKERvHc [Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[12]
7 July 2010 | 2:26 AM

Computer games you liked when you were a kid
[deleted: no copy found]

[Possible fragment: "That was my favorite Genesis game," based on p. 2 reply. Deleted 20 September 2010.]

[13] p. 57
26 October 2010 | 9:33 PM

Where are you from?
[deleted; no copy found]

[Appears to have posted a link to a blogger from Savvanah, as he later clarifies it isn't him, and another poster had suggested that two of the commenters were "from savvanah" when only one surviving comment says this. Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[14]
27 October 2010 | 9:28 AM

Where are you from?
I'm not him and I'm not from there. I saw some of his videos several years ago and began watching his vlog in April. I think it's hilarious, so I posted it.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WIsuPK0j ... 18#t=0m29s [Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[15] p. 57
28 October 2010 | 6:21 PM

The Halloween thread
This used to be my favorite movie.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fHXy8DpF5k0

[Killer Clowns from Outer Space (dead link).]

[16] p. 76
28 October 2010 | 7:59 PM

I wanna see this movie!
http://zs1.smbc-comics.com/comics/20100410.gif [Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[17]
29 October 2010 | 2:40 AM

Miscellaneous banter
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[18] p. 82
30 October 2010 | 5:29 AM

Do you vote?
I've been considering posting a topic sort of indirectly pertaining to the subject of gay bullying ever since Tyler Clementi killed himself, but I've been a bit hesitant because it will probably make me appear deranged.

[Probably just a fragment; redacted the next day. Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[19] p. 93
31 October 2010 | 8:13 AM

What are you eating right now?

That water had better not be flavored! [Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[20]
31 October 2010 | 12:13 AM

Where are you from?

I agree with NIN. Why would you be proud that you were born in a random place and sycophantically accepted being indoctrinated by the arbitrary beliefs your society imposed onto you? I have a lot of animosity for the notion of geographical culture.

[Deleted 1 November 2010.]

[21] p. 105
5 November 2010

Twitter account by school shooter! Save it B4 deletion

You're attributing too much value to it. People change, and they say things which to begin with are either inaccurate or completely false.

[22]
11 January 2011 | 10:45 PM

Jared Loughner(Tuscon Massacre) being compared to Columbine?

While Jared Loughner apparently is one of the very few mass murderers who is legitimately delusional (Although I haven't completely determined that yet; crimes which receive a lot of media attention sort of irritate me and I usually defer reading about them for a while), he would have likely said exactly the same thing if Jared Loughner had been phenomenally eloquent. Like everyone, he advises to treat the symptoms rather than determining whatever causes there may be. Overall, he was fumbling around not saying anything meaningful.

The way which this particular incident is being treated is frustrating to me. Jiverly Voong inflicted a similar number of casualties with more than double the deaths not too long ago, and he was virtually ignored compared to this. I hate how the lives of state-sanctioned thugs are treated as if they're more valuable than that of anyone else.

[Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[23] p. 114
12 January 2011 | 1:01 AM

60 Minutes - What Really Happened At Columbine 2001

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[24]
12 January 2011 | 1:12 AM

What is it about April?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[25] p. 119
13 January 2011 | 8:27 AM

Boy Bands

The absence of Modern Talking offends my sensibilities. No girl could resist their luscious hair and cheerful good-looks.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Lp2qcCrdBLA&fmt=18 [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[26] p. 124
14 January 2011 | 8:52 AM

Why did over half of all posts get deleted?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[27] p. 125
14 January 2011 | 9:07 AM

Why did over half of all posts get deleted?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[28] p. 130
19 January 2011 | 4:10 AM

How open are you?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[29] p. 145
22 January 2011 | 1:12 PM

The Killers...Psycho or Hero?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[30] p. 153
22 January 2011

Lear's Shadow Columbine book

Edit: I'm sorry; I didn't see that. LS1's formatting is pretty unappealing so this was one of the extremely rare times where I didn't read the entire topic before posting.

[Edited, replacing the original post, which is lost.]

[31] p. 157
26 January 2011 | 8:19 PM

Infinite guns for all! has consequences
I'm still waiting for a mass shooter who eschews 9mm pistols and instead buys an AK-47 pistol, 30 30-round magazines, and 1000 hollow points.... [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[32] p. 157
27 January 2011 | 6:49 AM

Infinite guns for all! has consequences
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[33] p. 163
27 January 2011 | 7:13 AM

Victims.
They would. Dead people in general receive more respect and blind compassion than they ever would have had while alive. I don't understand it. [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[34] p. 157
27 January 2011 | 7:41 AM

Infinite guns for all! has consequences
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[35] p. 163
28 January 2011 | 1:37 AM

Victims.
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[36] p. 171
28 January 2011 | 10:54 PM

Bullying, homophobia and suicide
We can see right through all of your fancy grammatical tricks, homophobe.
[Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[37] p. 176
31 January 2011 | 3:15 AM

Body mods?
I castrated myself when I was 15 to rebel against society. [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[38] p. 184
31 January 2011 | 10:09 PM

Post-mortem disposal of bodily remains...
It seems like an irrelevant question to be concerned about. No one can obtain knowledge about what happens after death, nor if anything is required to do for the deceased. If some ritual was necessary, no one could know about it nor have any knowledge about the requirements of it. Perhaps there's a magical platypus who requires that you burn a wooden effigy of a hamster so that the deceased can ride it to the gates of Valhalla.
From observing other people who have died, the only conclusion which can be reached is that nothing happens. Treating death as if it's the end of everything would be the most prudent course of action because believing that something happens is contrary to the observable world of the life which you are certain about having, thus deluding you into behaving in a way which could negatively impact your life. [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[39] p. 191
31 January 2011 | 10:14 PM

Do you ask for permission before you...
It's a loaded question which requires that you think of any of the relationships in your life, romantic or otherwise, in an immutable traditional context instead of an association of two particular individuals. [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[40] p. 195
31 January 2011 | 10:15 PM

The more things change...
I'm sure that a reformed government could solve their problems!
[Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[41] p. 191
1 February 2011 | 10:14 PM

Do you ask for permission before you...
(Incidentally, certain further evaluations which someone could have about the person who's kissing/asking were included for the answers (cute/chivalrous/throwing themselves/spontaneity/insecurity), but I'll pretend that the answers are only "Yes", "Maybe", and "No".)
Perhaps I shouldn't have answered at all (especially considering how inaccurately I phrased it), but I'll try to describe what I meant:
For anyone to give a meaningful answer to the fundamental question which I think you're asking ("Do you consider it generally desirable for someone to ask before kissing?") from which someone could potentially learn and modify their behavior accordingly, it would need to have an unimaginable number of variables and qualifiers. However, even if answers could be given for the impossibly detailed question, they would end up becoming meaningless because they would be so specific to the situation. That's why for the fundamental question to be reasonably asked, it understandably needs to include a particular scenario. In this case, it is a traditional end-of-date scenario between a potential romantic couple. That brings with it innumerable preconceived assumptions about the hypothetical relationship between the two people. We can only answer according to our interpretations of the context of the contrived relationship itself, eliminating the value of any of our answers. Basically, because of all of this, we can't accurately answer the question which you're really wanting to ask.

I can't honestly answer with "Maybe". No matter how it is asked, I don't think that the fundamental question itself can ever be reasonably answered at all. Although it's possible that I'm genuinely not intelligent enough to figure out how I could provide an appropriate answer to the question.

[42] p. 197
2 February 2011 | 11:36 PM

Taking a screenshot in a mac
Use an iPhone, unless you want to do it the square way. [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[43] p. 111
6 February 2011 | 1:40 AM

Jared Loughner(Tuscon Massacre) being compared to Columbine?
I haven't looked into this much in the past couple of years, but I can think of a few reasons as to why he killed 1 and injured 19. I vaguely remember reading that most of the injuries were inflicted to limbs, which are rarely fatal. I also remember him complaining about this:
"When My Rifle Misfires And I Gotta Stand There For 60 Seconds Waiting For It To Fire, Or Not".
He was describing this:
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hang_fire
It's uncommon for high-quality ammunition to hang fire. If he was using the same cheap cartridges for his massacre, then the bullets were likely full metal jacketed.
Beyond that, his 9mm Beretta Cx4 Storm innately wasn't a particularly effective firearm. The difference in velocity between a 9mm rifle and 9mm pistol is usually 15% at best. The benefits which a 9mm rifle has for a novice are basically its reduced recoil and greater distance between the front and rear sights. It allows faster and more accurate shots, although that was inconsequential for Kimveer Gill if he was aiming as poorly as I assume he was.

[44] p. 201
8 February 2011 | 4:37 PM

What is the 'best' movie you've ever seen
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[45] p. 203
10 February 2011 | 11:06 AM

SCMRPG gets ifans forum member banned
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[46] p. 207
10 February 2011 | 11:19 PM

.doc files
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 11 February 2011.]

[47] p. 209
4 April 2011 | 4:59 PM

Earliest movie with a trench-coated shooter? [Thread started by Lanza.]
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[48] p. 209
4 April 2011 | 6:23 AM

Earliest movie with a trench-coated shooter?
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[49] 6 April 2011 | 8:09 PM

[Title unknown]

[deleted; no copy found]

[Visible only in "next topic" view; no thread title. Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[50] 10 April 2011 | 7:06 AM

Well...Damn

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[51] p. 220 15 April 2011 | 6:31 AM

Are you a virgin?

You believe that a degenerate capitalistic system results in a commodification of sexuality. This enables the creation of a cultural notion that premarital sexuality is acceptable. This results in sexuality becoming widespread. This has three primary consequences:
The first is that there are some males who believe that the existence of this attitude of sexuality is a justification of date rape, which causes instances of it to increase. The second is that the existence of this attitude destroys the significance of marriages. Fewer people get married, and of the people who do get married, more divorce. The third is that the prevalence of sexuality results in more abortions, and more unwanted children, than would otherwise result.
You believe that it would be desirable to outlaw premarital sex to cause a gradual cultural shift away from all of this. And I would like you to briefly elaborate on something so that I can better understand your position. What is it about marriage that appeals to you, and why do you oppose the prevalence of divorces? [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[52] 6 May 2011

if it was dylan..

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[53] 11 May 2011 | 6:07 PM

What!?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[54] p. 227 11 May 2011 | 1:01 AM

the most famous school shooting

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[55] p. 240 15 May 2011 | 8:01 PM

who would be your massacre partner in crime?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[56] p. 242 16 May 2011 | 3:42 AM

who would be your massacre partner in crime?

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[57] p. 244 16 May 2011 | 4:21 AM

A school shooter was interviewed on 60 minutes years ago

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[58] p. 250 20 May 2011 | 10:54 PM

Not for Yanks only

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[59] p. 257 20 May 2011 | 10:39 PM

Jerry Spring didn't help America's image very much....

It seems bizarre to be concerned about the consent of animals in zoophilic relationships considering that millions of animals are slaughtered each day. [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[60] p. 261 20 May 2011 | 10:49 PM

Iporter

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[61] p. 259 21 May 2011 | 6:16 AM

Jerry Spring didn't help America's image very much....

[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[62] p. 270 | 25 May 2011 | 12:24 AM

If you could have any of Eric and Dylan's possessions...
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[63] | 26 May 2011 | 9:53 PM

Eric's cultural background/ethnicity
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[64] p. 287 | 27 May 2011 | 9:36 AM

Favourite posts?
[deleted; no copy found] [Deleted 28 May 2011.]

[65] p. 294 | 10 August 2011 | 4:13 AM

Lifetime Movie About Lauren Townsend's Mother?

> Elisabell wrote:
> Is this any good?
> I'm a little skeptical of anything dubbed a Lifetime movie.

The best movie I've seen about a mass shooting was from Lifetime. Other than the issue of portraying Richard Farley as a cute engineer instead of a creepy technician, its immense amount of accurate details warrants its "based on a true story" status.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1XhhFVDhv4g

[66] | 10 August 2011 | 4:18 AM

Duck! The Carbine High Massacre
For anyone who doesn't know, Sabratha (a member who used to post here) was part of a group which created an excellent school shooting movie.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ynCD5hLbDLI [Bullet Time with English subtitles.]

[67] p. 299 | 10 August 2011 | 7:41 PM

Eric and Dylan on trial
One of the major reasons why Columbine is still a (relatively) popular topic in recent years is because of the potential it allows for speculation. This would not exist if they had lived because their actual thoughts and experiences, the contents of the basement tapes/Nixon tape, and everything like that would probably be well-known.

[68] p. 295 | 11 August 2011 | 12:23 AM

Lifetime Movie About Lauren Townsend's Mother?
He's the ultimate stalker.
Events prior to and on February 16, 1988:
Laura Black testified concerning defendant's efforts to establish a personal relationship with her. She recalled that they met in the spring of 1984. Soon thereafter, defendant invited her to socialize with him, but she declined. Defendant continued to extend social invitations to her without success, to call her on the telephone, to leave her gifts, and to attend her aerobics classes and company softball games. Black testified that she changed her residence three times between July 1985 and February 1988, but defendant obtained her new address each time, and surreptitiously obtained a key to one of these residences. Between the fall of 1984 and February 1988, she received approximately 150 to 200 letters from defendant, including two letters he sent to her parents' home in Virginia where she was visiting in December 1984. She had not provided him with her parents' address. Various employees of ESL attempted to stop defendant's harassment of Black, and defendant reacted either defiantly or by threatening to commit violent acts.
After the January 1986 meeting with Tuffley and Lindauer, defendant confronted Black at her residence's parking lot. Black testified that defendant mentioned guns, told her he no longer was going to ask Black what to do and said he was going to tell her what to do. Black further testified that the weekend after this encounter, she received a letter from defendant stating he would not kill her, but referencing â€œa whole range of options, each getting worse and worse.â€

[All but the first sentence is pasted from Richard Farley's 2009 appeals court documents. Smiggles provides a direct link to this document in post 227.]

[69] 11 August 2011 | 7:11 PM

Dylan's Prom Photos?
What has Madonna done to our youth?

[70] p. 296 11 August 2011 | 11:51 PM

Lifetime Movie About Lauren Townsend's Mother?
Stalking Laura, also known as I Can Make You Love Me. You can watch it on Youtube.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1XhhFVDhv4g

[71] p. 320 12 August 2011 | 8:14 PM

Time article on the basement tapes
The basement tapes must have included the third and fourth shooters. Fortunately for us, unredacted sections of the 11k reveal that their names are Erik Kleboldt and Dylon Haris.

[72] p. 326 12 August 2011 | 5:12 PM

Excellent mid/late-'90s mass murderer documentary [Thread started by Lanza.]
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3Td2pujD75U
I just came across this one which includes a ton of footage I've never seen elsewhere. It even shows some of Patrick Purdy's fabled army men!
Mass murderers included in it:
Colin Ferguson
Charles Whitman
James Huberty
Julio Gonzalez
George Hennard
Patrick Purdy
Thomas Hamilton

[73] p. 329 14 August 2011 | 5:03 AM

Have you ever met your exact opposite sex copy?
The prospect of there being more than one RegalSin in the universe both intrigues and terrifies me.

[RegalSin was another forum user who was infamous for his confusing writing style, due to his poor understanding of English. Smiggles's repeated praise for him is probably in jest.]

[74] p. 332 16 August 2011 | 11:43 PM

China is Reportedly Selling Pills Made Out of Dead Babies
I don't see how it's more disgusting than a pill derived from any other animal. If anything, it seems slightly less disgusting.

[75] p. 349 16 August 2011 | 11:45 PM

Do you sleep naked?
But what if someone decided to pull off your boxers? Your contingency plan must involve at least one extra layer. Modesty must be maintained at all costs.

[76] p. 351 20 August 2011 | 2:26 PM

Favorite holiday?
I don't like holidays, but I would say Halloween. It marks the beginning of my favorite time of the year, November-December, when the sunlight always seems to be its dimmest. Because of the snow, January and February always seem to be intolerably bright. I hate the sun so much.
In any event, it's neat that Halloween is the only widely-observed holiday which sort of has the potential to be tied to despair. [Edited on 1 September, two weeks later.]

[77] p. 356 24 August 2011 | 7:28 AM

Matthew Murray / Colorado Shootings 07
Robert Hawkins's shooting at the Westroads Mall overshadowed it.

[78] p. 357 24 August 2011 | 12:09 PM

If I visit Littleton, can I "run into" the klebold
What would be the point?

[79] 25 August 2011 | 11:39 PM did Dylan live a minute after shooting himself

http://acolumbinesite.com/autopsies/dylan5.gif

[Link to a picture of a page from Dylan Klebold's autopsy text.]

[80] p. 375 27 August 2011 | 1:36 PM

E & D and The Breakfast Club

The episode I think you're talking about involved a potential school shooting. I remember seeing a part of it in a hotel in the early 2000s, but I had no idea what it was from. I finally found out toward the end of last year.

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=d_0iwLQAA3M

[Possibly related to the wrong thread, as this seems unrelated to the discussion. The YouTube link is a clip of an Outer Limits episode, "Abduction."]

[81] p. 385 27 August 2011 | 11:56 PM

Full 911 call from the library.

YouTube has a zero-tolerance policy for Columbine videos because of Pekka Auvinen.

[On Auvinen, see schoolshooters.info/pekka-eric-auvinen.]

[82] p. 386 28 August 2011 | 12:29 AM

Full 911 call from the library.

I don't mean it in a literal sense, and I can't elaborate because there has never been a relevant policy announcement or anything like that. Vaguely going by what I can remember, Pekka Auvinen's final video brought attention to the fan videos which were prevalent on YouTube at the time. This caused any video which might be arbitrarily construed as supporting the Columbine shooters to be removed. I don't remember there being any issues with Columbine videos prior to that, with videos like Rampart Range having many views and staying uploaded for more than a year.

[83] p. 390 28 August 2011 | 9:56 AM

Name meanings: Eric and Dylan.

Wasn't one of Jared Loughner's victims born on 9/11/2001? In one case, it's an omen of impending destruction. In another, it's somehow a paragon of hope in the future or something like that. What would we do without the enlightenment which astrology provides for us?

[84] p. 391 28 August 2011 | 9:57 AM

If you could change any word...

All of them.

[85] p. 394 28 August 2011 | 10:01 AM

moments that restore your faith in humanity

In a "My political ideology finally gets some attention" sense, a "Someone finally outdid Woo Bum-kon" sense, a "He looks so cute in those compression jammies" sense, or what?

[86] p. 394 28 August 2011 | 10:20 AM

moments that restore your faith in humanity

That was directed toward ellesieg, but I must admit that those pictures did make me swoon...

[87] p. 399 29 August 2011 | 3:12 AM

Origin of this photo?

The other location may have been this.

http://columbinegame.com/discuss/viewtopic.php?t=3913

[Link to the thread "2,763 Photos and counting - uploaded!"]

[88] p. 403 29 August 2011 | 12:38 PM

House centipedes are awful.

You might not have centipedes in your house, but I'm sure you have more types of spiders, snakes, and giant ants than I can count, box jellyfish lurking somewhere in the refrigerator, and wombats roaming the halls.

[89] p. 411
29 August 2011 | 12:42 PM

A couple images of Dylan I've never seen before

What, you don't believe that they faked their deaths and skipped down to Mexico? Eric already did it once: I'm sure he'd do it again, this time taking his emo sidekick with him.

[90] p. 412
29 August 2011 | 5:23 PM

A couple images of Dylan I've never seen before

That's ridiculous. According to Lola from the old acolumbinesite guestbook, Eric's spirit is waiting for her to be impregnated by his parents so that she can give birth to him again.

[91] p. 395
30 August 2011 | 12:13 AM

moments that restore your faith in humanity

I'm normally not interested in non-Kaczynski bombers, but the format and organization of everything involved was such an impressive instance of mass murder self-actualization that it seemed fictional. I wouldn't call it encouraging, but it seemed motivational enough in some sense that it was the kind of thing you would find in a particularly macabre self-improvement book. Probably owing to watching too many mass murder movies, reading excerpts like this almost had me at the edge of my seat in anticipation:

> Mad_Breivik wrote:
>
> On my way home to the farm I noticed what I believed to be a civilian police vehicle south of the southern town (30km from the farm). At this point in time I remembered I had forgotten to turn on the lights on the car since I tested out my blue LED lights the day before. Hmm, they should have stopped me for this violation. Very weird. As I came closer to the farm I noticed what I believed to be another civilian police car. Damn, I got a really bad feeling about this and my instincts told me I was about to be apprehended. Too many red flags were lit. I stopped 500 meters before the farm entrance and had a smoke, preparing mentally for a potential welcoming party at the farm. What should I do if I was about to be SWAT raped by a 6 or 12 man team? I didn't have any weapons available as they were all inside the main house. Should I make a run for it, if so, where would I go? Would I have time to fetch my evacuation kit, and should I try to get it and shoot my way out?
>
> After the break I approached the farm, and turned on the fog lights on the car so that I could have an advantage should they approach me from the front. I stopped 50 meters north of the main house and I was shocked at the sight that awaited me...! The barn door was wide open!!! Someone was here! They were probably circling me right now or waiting for me inside the main house! I waited 20 minutes with the fog light aimed straight at the direction I expected them to come from. Perhaps they are not here, maybe they just installed monitoring equipment like they often do? I entered the house, picked up the glock and searched the house and the barn.
>
> Nothing. I began searching for monitoring equipment, nothing...
>
> Paranoia can be a good thing, or it can be a curse. The barn door had probably been opened by the wind. I decided then and there that I would not allow paranoia to get the best of me again. If they were to come for me one day, there was really nothing I could do about it, so it would not be constructive to worry about it.

Although just between you and me... It really was just the compression jammies, wasn't it?

http://supravietuitor.files.wordpress.c ... arment.jpg

[92] p. 337
31 August 2011 | 4:45 AM

China is Reportedly Selling Pills Made Out of Dead Babies

Tuna? :?

[93] p. 423
5 September 2011 | 9:56 PM

Is anyone a facebook member of [E&D] Vodka and reb chat

http://www.jimgoad.net/nicest.html

[94] p. 223
5 September 2011 | 9:43 PM

Are you a virgin?

Someone has a fetish for property rights.

[95] p. 224
6 September 2011 | 2:40 AM

Are you a virgin?

Are you underweight? I used to think that I was asexual, but the primary reason why I thought that was because my BMI was 14.

[96] p. 428
7 September 2011 | 8:41 AM

Pumped Up Kicks, A hit song about a teenage killer?

I found that song about a month ago through Google because someone in the comments for a video of it said that it was about Robert Hawkins. "Robert" was apparently an arbitrarily selected name from what I could find, though, which is especially obvious considering that it has nothing to do with him other than how he took his stepfather's AK-47.

For trivia's sake, I know of four other young mass shooters whose names were Robert:
Robert Smith, November 12, 1966 (Who actually did use a "six-shooter")
Robert Poulin, October 27, 1975
Robert Sartin, April 30, 1989
Robert Steinhauser, April 26, 2002

In any event, that song is waaaaaaaaaayyyyyyyy too repetetive for me to listen to without throwing a hissy fit. I've been constantly listening to this one since last year and I still love it:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eYThXZdLaX0&fmt=18

[97] p. 442
8 September 2011 | 1:08 AM

What are you watching right now?

A while ago, ellesieg posted a link to a documentary which was made by the same guy who wrote the book on which that movie was based.

> ellesieg wrote:
> Has anyone seen Jon Ronson's documentary "Death in Santaland"? I'm a big fan of his and it's damn good Christmas viewing if you're morbid and have seen It's a Wonderful Life one too many times. The whole thing is available here:
> http://www.megavideo.com/?d=42H3TALK
> The documentary centers upon the discovery of a "Columbine-style" plot at North Pole Middle School in North Pole, Alaska, a Christmas-themed town. It involved 15 middle-schoolers and apparently didn't work out only because the kid who was supposed to bring the guns didn't show.

[98] p. 452
9 September 2011 | 5:51 AM

Dunblane - The UK's Columbine?

Dunblane's 11k:
http://www.scotland.gov.uk/Resource/Doc ... 043149.pdf

[99] p. 465
9 September 2011 | 6:35 AM

"Are you with me?"

They were talking to the third shooter. Apparently, he wasn't with them and ended up fleeing the country, never to be heard from again.

[100] p. 476
9 September 2011 | 8:23 AM

The Board Dead

When was it ever alive?

[101] p. 485
9 September 2011 | 8:29 AM

I wonder if this is how Dylan danced at prom...

> Quote:
> atleast these columbine kids wont shoot everyone. they'll just interpretive dance at us until we die.

[Quote is from a YouTube comment.]

[102] p. 477
9 September 2011 | 10:00 AM

The Board Dead

But Regal_Sin's lucidity will always be here to guide us through this world of uncertainty.

[103] p. 488
9 September 2011 | 11:48 AM

Prank Calling TheGunSource [Thread started by Lanza.]

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wSei8okKFgk

TheGunSource was the online dealer who sold some of the equipment that mass shooters Cho Seung-hui, Steven Kazmierczak, and George Sodini used, probably among others.
[Link to a YouTube video of someone prank-calling The Gun Source.]

[104] p. 453
9 September 2011 | 3:49 PM

Dunblane - The UK's Columbine?
I've heard of stranger scenarios, like how Mehrdad Dashti shot eight people in a restaurant because the "government owed him $16 trillion for mental telepathy work and this was his way of getting it back".
Or this:
http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-srv/ap ... 50_001.htm
And even this:
http://webcache.googleusercontent.com/s ... iangwu.htm
(It looks like The Wacky World Of Murder is finally going down like SpankMe's site did. :( )
I don't even want to think about Michael McDermott...

[105] p. 454
10 September 2011 | 10:42 AM

Dunblane - The UK's Columbine?
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Campo_El%C ... 0.99s_path

[106]
10 September 2011 | 10:48 PM

Do you own a cell phone?
Stickam Party!

[107] p. 481
10 September 2011 | 10:50 PM

The Board Dead
How about how Mad_Bomber has been here for three years and he still hasn't gone on a rampage? I thought he would've been on my catalog of mass murderers by now. :?

[108] p. 481
12 September 2011 | 11:48 AM

The Board Dead
Uh oh, now I have to behave aggressively to coerce you into behaving in a way which is consistent with the fulfillment of my values.

[109] p. 481
12 September 2011 | 1:42 PM

The Board Dead
But it's just not the same thing when you're cooperative. :(

[110] p. 491
12 September 2011 | 10:01 PM

Guns and you
Guns? I've got all the guns I need.
Flexes 9" biceps

[111]
12 September 2011 | 10:07 PM

Unanswerable question of the day
I can imagine his mother trying to wash his pants and finding his 50-round TEC-9 magazine in one of the pockets.
"Mom, it's just a computer part!"

[112] p. 503
12 September 2011 | 10:10 PM

I found myself on a hit list in high school.
http://www.megavideo.com/?v=UJXRH03C
32:12

[113] p. 431
12 September 2011 | 10:12 PM

Pumped Up Kicks, A hit song about a teenage killer?
Oh, dear... Is it wrong that I want to go to a hoedown now?

[114] p. 492
12 September 2011 | 3:12 AM

Guns and you
Kip Kinkel used a rifle and two pistols.
sawn-off Ruger 10/22 (one 50-round magazine)
Glock 19 (one shot while being tackled)
Ruger Mark II (Unused)

[115] p. 5:15
13 September 2011 | 3:24 AM

Opinions on Eric and Dylan quotes.
Presumably made by heypigpiggy:
http://img543.imageshack.us/img543/4164/whatthe.jpg

[116] p. 71
13 September 2011 | 5:37 PM

What kind of puppy you want?
http://images03.olx.com/ui/1/62/40/8906240_3.jpg [Picture of hamsters.]

[117] p. 71
13 September 2011 | 6:38 PM

What kind of puppy you want?
But hamster pups are infinitely superior.
http://www.treehugger.com/real-hamster.jpg
Oh, now look what you did! You should've known that hamsters have low self-esteem! Say you're sorry.

[118] p. 72
13 September 2011 | 8:19 PM

What kind of puppy you want?
So you can sacrifice it as a part of your Satanic rituals?

[119]
15 September 2011 | 7:10 PM

What would you do if their was a shooting at your school?
Hurray, we've got a new Mad_Bomber!

[120] p. 522
15 September 2011 | 7:18 PM

i know people might not like reality shows
I looked up a bunch of Hoarders episodes earlier this month. As a compulsive organizer, I like to imagine how much pleasure I would get from throwing out everything in those places. My favorite hoarder was Andy.
http://videobb.com/video/rBgFYzraAcJ1

[121] p. 5:23
15 September 2011 | 7:34 PM

i know people might not like reality shows
I forgot about Willard. That place was like a utopia.
http://www.novamov.com/video/hexk9xa8urpyg

[122] p. 5:25
16 September 2011 | 12:39 AM

How did you find this forum?
I think I found it through Google toward the end of 2006. I didn't register for years because it seemed like the kind of website which would get you on a terrorist watch-list.

[123] p. 496
16 September 2011 | 12:49 AM

Guns and you
Mad_Bomber, we know you think that the board is dead, but you don't have to troll around to make it more interesting!

[124] p. 525
16 September 2011 | 8:25 PM

How did you find this forum?
Were they talking about Kimveer Gill?

[125] p. 526
16 September 2011 | 9:31 PM

How did you find this forum?
Yes. I don't quote people when I post directly after them, because eye-contact upsets me. :(

[126]
16 September 2011 | 11:26 PM

What would you do if their was a shooting at your school?
http://www2.scnow.com/news/grand-strand ... r-2267268/
I hope he was joking when he misquoted Robert Hawkins.

[127] p. 535
17 September 2011 | 6:56 PM

Question to make ur brains think alittle
Females generally kill in a more personal context than males do, so I would expect there to have not been explosives, and the target selection would have been less random. There have been a lot of mass murders committed by females, but they almost always take the form of familicide. At least 98% of indiscriminate rampage killers are male.

[128] p. 538
17 September 2011 | 11:33 PM

Question to make ur brains think alittle
Depending on your definition, Laurie Dann and Amy Bishop might also qualify.

[129] p. 542
18 September 2011 | 4:51 AM

the date of your death
Don't leave us hangin', bro! Make sure you upload your basement tapes before you pull a Travis!

[130] p. 545
18 September 2011 | 2:32 AM

RIP Travis the Chimp! [Thread started by Lanza.]
This is among the most hilarious things I've seen in my life. It's a tribute video to a chimpanzee who snapped and went on a biting spree a couple of years ago. The humor that I find in this is the way the video itself and its comments are parallel to the kind of tributes you can find on YouTube for murderers like Alyssa Bustamante, where there are comments saying, "It's not her fault! She's mentally ill and needed help!", and others saying, "This cold-blooded emo bitch deserves to get hanged!".
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q4V0GwM8CiQ http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9vMsUcD_Cgc http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Travis_the_Chimp
My favorite comments:
"That's a beautiful tribute to Travis I cried! Thanks so much for making it and sharing it. We love you Travis!"
"The true murderer is the zanax travis was on. If that can do bad things to humans than its worse for chimps."
"This video is a homage to a MURDERER. Fucking monkey, I'm glad you're DEAD."
"Travis belonged to the jungle with his fellow chimps ! HE is the victim of human egotism and exploitation ! RIP in Heaven's Jungle Travis + Best wishes of recovery to Charla Nash!"

[131] p. 549
18 September 2011 | 6:12 AM

I had to do it..
You've unlocked the secret of why Columbine happened!

[132] p. 555
20 September 2011 | 2:09 AM

Origin of the name "Nixon" on the tape?
I think it's funny how East Asians seem to think that Nixon is characteristic of common Western names.

[133] p. 557
20 September 2011 | 10:00 PM

Origin of the name "Nixon" on the tape?
Are you implying that you believe the Elephant interpretation of their relationship?

[134] p. 567
20 September 2011 | 5:23 PM

What do you do when you're bored?
Yeah, those ballistic vests can get heavy, Mad_Bomber_Junior! Make sure you stay buff!

[135] p. 573
21 September 2011 | 12:47 AM

Really random question...?
Therapists are secular priests who assert that they have some "truth", and if your values deviate, then you are "wrong". Hence, The Rapist. They impose their values onto you through their mindfucking.

[136] p. 545
21 September 2011 | 9:36 PM

RIP Travis the Chimp!
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6A6j6h8ft0U&t=4m22s

[137] p. 576
22 September 2011 | 5:39 AM

Can you drive anything other than a car?
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=58VoEi42SMg
Haters be hatin'.

[138] p. 568
22 September 2011 | 10:21 AM

Hunting humans
Whenever I see the title of this topic, I think it's about Jim Huberty.

[139] 22 September 2011 | 10:23 PM

How old will you be when the BTs are released?
You mean to say you haven't seen any of tyler's trolling? He's obviously boasting about how he would have gone on a rampage by that time and would have subsequently died.

[140] p. 579 23 September 2011 | 2:26 AM

Can you drive anything other than a car?

> AbuseTheSoul wrote:
> I can drive just about anything.
> Never tried a plane, but I'm sure I could handle it.

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=e4zvY0cv-OA

[141] p. 588 29 September 2011 | 7:50 PM

What are you listening to?
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eeZsSn0p4KY

[142] p. 602 30 September 2011 | 3:56 PM

Is this what caused Columbine?
Am I the only one who thinks that the goth resembles Kimveer Gill?

[143] p. 589 30 September 2011 | 4:02 PM

What are you listening to?
Oh, yeah. DJs are those people who splice together music...
You've given me a purpose in life! I shall henceforth be known as DJ Smiggie-Smug, bridging the previously-intractable gap between death metal and disco. I'm going to be even more hardcore than Modern Talking! I won't let you down!

[144] p. 602 30 September 2011 | 4:55 PM

Is this what caused Columbine?
http://images.wikia.com/southpark/image ... bling2.jpg http://1.bp.blogspot.com/_Mpl5OdlM4sw/S ... ebsite.jpg

[145] p. 589 30 September 2011 | 9:11 AM

What are you listening to?
Fine. I'll just keep my collection of Barbie Girl covers to myself.

[146] p. 607 30 September 2011 | 4:05 PM

21 year old friendless virgin?
Right on, RegalSin! Stick it to TheRapists!

[147] p. 622 1 October 2011 | 5:54 AM

Eric Inspired ?
You can watch the trial of Eric's eminent fanboy, Alvaro Castillo, here:
http://www.wral.com/news/video/5717989/#/vid5717989

[148] p. 626 1 October 2011 | 6:12 AM

They All Had Jobs
Maybe he missed the readily-available TEC-9s.

[149] p. 631 3 October 2011 | 4:33 PM

Jeff Weise
He was ignored because it happened on an Indian reservation and everyone was freaking out about whether or not Terry Schiavo should continue to flop around.

[150] p. 644 3 October 2011 | 4:36 PM

Dylan's glasses.
Wearing glasses might have provoked Eric into picking on him and shooting him in the face.

[151] p. 649 5 October 2011 | 12:16 PM

Are you superstitious?
Not remotely.

[152] p. 650 5 October 2011 | 6:18 PM

Are you superstitious?
I'm not going to bother addressing you because I know that someone like you wants to troll, but to prevent him from misrepresenting my position, I must affirm that I am not remotely superstitious.

[153]
6 October 2011 | 11:11 AM
Forum crushes..
Say whatever you wish, but I know that my love for RegalSin is real.

[154] p. 671
9 October 2011 | 4:32 AM
The dueling fangirls thread
Good work, lporter! We finally have authentic photographic evidence of the gym incident where Dylan was running around pushing people.

[155] p. 546
9 October 2011 | 7:45 PM
RIP Travis the Chimp!
I think I just serendipitously came across Travis in his younger days.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1aAiOBEHHCo&t=1m52s http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uVZwAPqFLTQ&t=0m28s

[156] p. 673
10 October 2011 | 1:30 AM
Mao Zedong encouraged kids to beat up their teachers Meaning, only the teachers who propagated ideologies that differed from his.

[157] p. 681
11 October 2011 | 1:53 AM
How do you imagine different members of this board looking?
No one's guessed about RegalSin?

[158] p. 693
11 October 2011 | 9:09 PM
Things that DON'T make you think about Columbine
Is that a challenge?

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ncumpyOGkdA

The guide who ferried them across the border after they managed to fake their deaths.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=d2SXAcBOGBk

The judge who would have sentenced them. Considering how televised the shooting was, you can't tell me that they wouldn't have been tried on that show.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7IiLZ0dvDWU

An obscure advertisement which Eric starred in when he was a toddler.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hOA-2hl1Vbc

Eric tried to sound tough by pretending to listen to his metal music or whatever it was, but he actually blasted this while driving in his car.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9MF5OxlJCtQ

What Eric -really- listened to while only in the privacy of his basement.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DKgYjplon2I

A recreation of the events of prom night at Eric's house. Actually, the events of every night at Eric's house.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8A3zetSuYRg

Dylan in drama class. He told his friends that he only handled the lighting because he was embarrassed.

> lporter101 wrote:
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=x4ByXqyCXRw

Obama singing to the mix tape that Eric worked on with his homies in the early '90s.

[159] p. 699
14 October 2011 | 4:04 AM
Unreleased Cho manifesto http://thehardestlesson.com/?q=node/211

[160]
15 October 2011
Do you own a gun?
"But if you outlaw guns, only outlaws will have guns!"

Conservatives really piss me off. Actually, everyone does.

[161] p. 707
17 October 2011 | 12:49 PM
Favorite films
"Favorite" is too difficult to define, but I'm sure that I know what RegalSin's favorite one is:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=R5DmTmJrOZ0

[162] p. 729
19 October 2011 | 9:59 AM
Is anyone dressing up for Halloween ...
I never dress up. Clothes are for slaves to civilization.

[163] p. 546
19 October 2011 | 12:08 PM
Favorite films
Despite the main "chimp" being an orangutan, I wonder if Travis ever stayed up late to watch this.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ly-37jyTOR4

[164] p.715
19 October 2011 | 6:17 PM
Favorite films
I suppose that an attempted Top 25 would encompass most of what "favorite" entails.
1971 Let's Scare Jessica To Death
1971 Willard
1972 Crawlspace
1972 Haunts of the Very Rich
1972 Private Parts
1972 Folks at Red Wolf Inn
1972 Children Shouldn't Play With Dead Things
1973 The Baby
1973 Messiah of Evil
1973 Don't Look in the Basement
1973 The Killing Kind
1974 Bad Ronald
1975 Lemora: A Child's Tale of the Supernatural 1979 Driller Killer
1980 Don't Go in the House
1980 The Attic
1981 The Pit
1983 Night Warning
1985 Deadly Messages
1986 Link
1988 Killer Klowns From Outer Space
1988 Bloody Wednesday
1989 Pin
1989 Beyond Dream's Door
1993 Stalking Laura

[165] p. 52
20 October 2011
Where are you from?
> babyxenomorph wrote:
>> desti wrote:
>> London born and bred, but maybe be moving to the US soon...if work decides to send me.
>
> Pretty keen for the states....who wants to marry me so I can stay :lol:

Gay marriage is legal in my state. I was holding out for RegalSin, but you're awful purty...

[166] p. 741
21 October 2011 | 10:56 PM
11 yr old girl arrested,accused of making school threats She's obviously an Andrew Golden copykitten. These incidents would stop happening if it weren't for overzealous reporters publicizing them.

[167] p. 743
21 October 2011 | 11:00 PM

~Oatmealberry Chipnut Cookies! [Thread started by Lanza.]

Smigglestyle!
Mix:
3 cup oats (The smaller and powderier the better)
1 cup flour (I'm partial to wheat)
1/2 cup water (Adding slightly more later on might help)
3/4 cup peanut butter (Not too liquid, not too solid. Juuust right!)
1/2 cup turbinado-style sugar (The larger the granules the better)
1 teaspoon cinnamon (Ginger sucks)
1/2 teaspoon salt (Fuck anticaking agents)
1/2 cup dried cranberries (The smoother the better)
1/2 cup dried blueberries (The juicier the better)
1/2 cup milk-free chocolate chips (About a cubic centimeter per chip. Mingled units add a flair of fun!)
Greased cookie trays are for commies.
Bake them for however long you want. Or not at all. They don't have any meat in them, after all!

[168] p. 743
22 October 2011 | 4:33 AM

~Oatmealberry Chipnut Cookies!

The chair recognizes the guy from that gayhappy state for as long as he pleases.
Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I submit for house approval a motion to officially change the name of Oatmealberry Chipnut Cookies to Oatmealberry Chocochipeanuts. This motion is designed to help bolster public support for this minority, which is currently obscenely underrepresented in the media and congress.
(The president barges in)
YOU HAVE MADE AN EXCELLENT POINT, SMIGGLES. I SHALL IMMEDIATELY SIGN AN EXECUTIVE ORDER TO CHANGE THE NAME OF THESE DELICIOUS COOKIES.
(Everyone cheers!)
Disco party at the white house!!

[169]
22 October 2011 | 1:27 PM

How do you want to die?

Dying in a swordfight against a platypus would be pretty cool. Can you hook me up, baby?

[170]
22 October 2011 | 1:44 PM

How do you want to die?

More platypus trivia!
http://answers.yahoo.com/question/index ... 300AAZtHD7

[171] p. 639
23 October 2011 | 5:05 PM

Jeff Weise

> Ivan wrote:
> Has anyone heard of Michael Ryan?

I wish I had stayed in bed.

[172] p. 761
24 October 2011 | 3:14 AM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting? [Thread started by Lanza.]

I had known about Targets (1968) for a while, but I expected it to only tack on a Charles Whitman-style sniper to augment a plot which would have been too lame to stand on its own. I saw it yesterday, and I was surprised to find that the sniper was the main character, with the aging actor being the tacked-on character!
I don't know how I can describe it. It's like a blend of Bloody Wednesday and Stalking Laura. It isn't serious in the various ways that those two can be taken (Yes, I just called Bloody Wednesday serious in some sense), while still being sincere. It's like what Duck! should have been. I think it's the most pleasurable movie about a mass shooting that I've seen. And I can forgive the movie for including the incredibly-lame subplot because of how lightheardedly-awesome the climax of its intersection with the sniper is. If you watch it, I recommend skipping any scene which doesn't include the Charlie clone; at best, you'll only be missing some pretentious pseudo-philosophizing about aesthetics.

Anyway, it made me wonder if it was the earliest portrayal of a mass/spree shooting. Before hearing about Targets, I thought that Thriller: A Cruel Picture was the earliest one (deliberately ignoring If....). As far as I know, Thriller is still the earliest movie which portrays a trench-coated shooter (with the "criminal aura", not the "detective aura"). Does anyone know of any earlier ones, for either of the two categories? Today I saw The Sniper (1952), which was released when Charles Whitman was still a wee Boy Scout, but the main character was more of a serial killer. Despite that disappointment, it was still excellent and presciently anticipated future psychological horrors.
Now that I think of it, I'm sure that Charles Whitman must have snuck into a showing of The Sniper and eventually ended up imitating what he saw. After all, the sniper in the movie used a variant of an M1 carbine, which was one of the rifles that was brought up the Austin tower. What has the media done to our children?

[173] p. 761
24 October 2011 | 5:43 AM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
The trailer seems to agree with my evaluation. The subplot character is thrown onto the last ten seconds as if to say, "Hey, look! We've got some famous actor for whom we'll contrive the faintest justification to include!"
And upon further inspection, I think I've recovered a deleted scene from some alternative universe in Back To The Future.
http://i1226.photobucket.com/albums/ee4 ... hmarty.gif
And some trivia about that, the head gangster from Bloody Wednesday was the Libyan van driver! He was ultimately found not guilty for his involvement in the murder of the doctor.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=S3rh6QLCHRY

[174] p. 748
24 October 2011 | 2:48 AM

How do you want to die?
Where's tyler's trolling when you need him? This topic was made for him.

[175]
24 October 2011 | 3:42 AM

Phobias?
Come on, Mad_Bomber! Get on tyler and answer the "How do you want to die?" question!

[176]
24 October 2011 | 4:10 AM

Phobias?
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=izSbvMMz_ZM&t=12m18s
I'll take a lesson from Mike and not press you further. Although your answer suffices in its own special way!~ [Killer Clowns from Outer Space clip.]

[177] p. 762
25 October 2011 | 2:43 PM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
The closest things I can think of are Bad Ronald and Horror High, both from 1974, although I've only seen the first. In 1976 there was a movie called God Told Me To, which I think starts with a Charlie clone sniping from a building, but I haven't seen that one either. I would be interested to hear the name of the one you're talking about if you ever find out, since I've never heard of a school shooting movie that was released in the wake of Anthony Barbaro, Michael Slobodian, and Robert Poulin.

[178]
25 October 2011 | 8:00 PM

Songs and Bands you cant stand:
It sounds worse than static.

[179]
25 October 2011 | 8:05 PM

Songs and Bands you cant stand:
Real men listen to this:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4kHl4FoK1YsIt sounds worse than static.

[180] p. 762
26 October 2011 | 4:42 PM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
I saw God Told Me To yesterday. My gaydar indicated that the Charlie clone couldn't have killed his wife before climbing the water tower. There were several other mass murders, but even ignoring that entire aspect, the rest of the movie itself was a lot more enjoyable than I anticipated. And as a side-note, early on in the movie, it was rumored that all of the murderers had been seen with a man in his early 20s who had shoulder-length blond hair. More evidence that Martin Bryant was framed?

[181]
26 October 2011 | 4:56 PM

The Official 'Reveal Yourself' Thread
This reminds me of Sabratha's Bullet Time.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=t2zElaWlj0A&t=5m28s
More of you really should see it. I think it's a lot better than Zero Day.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ynCD5hLbDLI

[182] p. 762
27 October 2011 | 4:15 AM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
I'm watching something which has "Class Reunion Massacre" (1978) as an alternative name. Is that what you were talking about?

[183] p. 763
27 October 2011 | 5:32 AM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
Its name is the only part that fits your description. I generally don't like slashers, but I thought that it was okay.

[184] p. 791
27 October 2011 | 7:58 PM

Piercings & Tattoos
All tattoos, all piercings, all body modifications including shaving, and all clothes themselves are cultural delusions.

[185] p. 798
27 October 2011 | 11:19 PM

LPorter's thread of horror and perversion
M is for methamphetamine.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GS8GTWOSA60&fmt=18
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_QzXY_Tfybc&fmt=18

[“The Letter People – Meet Mr. M” and “Tap Your Head (Creepy Kids Show).”]

[186] p. 798
27 October 2011 | 11:47 PM

LPorter's thread of horror and perversion
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LS86u5p0jVk http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=acvAPdOeXVA

[Clips from ’80s educational show Out and About.]

[187] p. 546
28 October 2011 | 2:26 AM

RIP Travis the Chimp!
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5KlL-e_9DVA&t=0m1s

[Dead link. Post was edited on 24 December 2011, around the time of the “depression” posts; info is likely lost.]

[188] p. 800
28 October 2011 | 2:59 AM

LPorter's thread of horror and perversion
I saw this nearly four years ago and I've been unable to expunge it from my memory. Watch at your own peril.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wQ-US2sEpXI http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MbBNGyk30Yk http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-MzIrNx2ZyI http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ESvsKNCAnj4 http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3QXqQ8hoMbU http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oACU4UmgANg http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JZwMDRKee0E

[Clips from children’s show Peppermint Park.]

[189] p. 801
28 October 2011 | 3:27 AM

LPorter's thread of horror and perversion

Disclaimer: This link contains a "clown" that only could have only been conceived from a nightmare.
It may be terrifying, but you won't be able to overcome your phobia until you confront it! Brace yourself.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WeJ8-vCh4LA

["Creepy Christian Clown Puppet Talks to 'Gary'."]

[190] p. 802
28 October 2011 | 4:23 AM

LPorter's thread of horror and perversion

You're not a very good poser. You're supposed to be lauding Traces of Death!

[191] p. 808
28 October 2011 | 2:23 AM

Pumped Up Kicks

That song really irritates me. This is the much better one:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eYThXZdLaX0
In any event, that "Pumped Up Kicks" song isn't even about Robert Hawkins.

[192] p. 809
28 October 2011 | 3:24 AM

Pumped Up Kicks

The average age of the people that Robert Hawkins shot was 49. That doesn't seem to be getting back at kids who have redundantly pumped-up kicks. If the song really is based off of him, they did a pretty terrible job in making it relevant when you compare it to something like I Don't Like Mondays, let alone the Omaha Shopping Mall Blues.

[193] p. 817
28 October 2011 | 4:32 AM

Are you an Early Bird or Night Owl?

Aww, AbuseTheSoul, you were supposed to say, "Why would I need to rest my weary legs when I'm just gonna chop 'em off tomorrow?"

[194] p. 822
29 October 2011 | 10:05 PM

The parents

This reminds me of http://blog.cleveland.com/metro/2007/12 ... about.html

> Quote:
> Coon placed a collect call Tuesday from the Cuyahoga County Jail to The Plain Dealer after reading a story about a police officer being disciplined for snapping a picture of Asa's bloody body that circulated on the Internet. "Is there really a photo on the Internet?" he asked. "Man, that's messed up. I didn't know. Can it be taken down?"

[195] p. 809
29 October 2011 | 7:47 PM

Pumped Up Kicks

I can't stop thinking about how much this song annoys me. Even if it wasn't so lame, it would still bother me that they used the name "Robert". Now one of my favorite mass shooters has been turned into a trendy stereotypical poster child of school shootings just because of his age, despite having nothing to do with the school shooter archetype. They could have used Michael, or Evan, or Barry, which would literally fit in with the whole "cowboy kid" thing.

[196] p. 809
29 October 2011 | 7:50 PM

Pumped Up Kicks

Jealous of what? I don't understand what you mean.

[197] p. 763
30 October 2011 | 4:27 AM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?

I just saw The Deadly Tower (1975). It's a 44 Minutes-style docudrama of Charles Whitman. I didn't think it was very good, especially considering all of the inaccuracies.

[198] p. 326
30 October 2011 | 4:33 AM

Excellent mid/late-'90s mass murderer documentary

I really enjoyed this documentary. It was like a mini post-Huberty The Killing of America. Does anyone know of any others like it?

[Lanza ressurects a thread that he started two months previous.]

[199] p. 763
1 November 2011 | 2:03 PM
Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
I just saw what is presumably Kurt Havelock's favorite movie, Two-Minute Warning (1976). It was the lame faceless-sniper kind of movie I thought Targets was going to be before seeing it.

[200]
1 November 2011 | 11:37 PM
Existentialism
"Self" is a delusion and life cannot be anything other than suffering.

[201] p. 837
1 November 2011 | 11:38 PM
Marriage: Is it in your near future?
Marriage is a mutually destructive cultural delusion.

[202] p. 774
3 November 2011 | 3:27 AM
The Official 'Reveal Yourself' Thread
I'm still waiting for RegalSin. :(

[203]
3 November 2011 | 10:44 PM
boys who see porn more likely to harass girls study finds
Your post confirms you've never wrestled, MnM.

[204] p. 778
3 November 2011 | 7:48 PM
The Official 'Reveal Yourself' Thread
Don't try to seduce me. You already rejected the marriage proposal, and I won't give you another chance.

[205]
4 November 2011 | 4:27 AM
boys who see porn more likely to harass girls study finds
"Eric didn't play doom because he wanted to kill people: Eric wanted to kill people because he played Doom".
People who are likely to sexually harass are going to seek pornography. Instead of treating poornography as an external force which floats around trying to corrupt people from some allegedly-ideal set of behavior, why not ask where a desire for pornography comes from? Pornography exists as a coping mechanism for an artificial scarcity of sex. And where does sexual harassment come from? Sexual harassment is a retaliation against, once again, an artificial scarcity of sex.
Stigmatizing sex and then being aghast that there are consequences is a classic case of having one's cake and wanting to eat it, too.

[206]
4 November 2011 | 4:28 AM
Your most recent purchase
You two are, like, so cool. I wanna grow up to be just as cool as you guys are.

[207] p. 839
4 November 2011 | 4:40 AM
How many hours of sleep do you get?
I generally need to average, at the very least, maybe 8.5 hours of sleep per 24 hours. Lately it's been more than 10.

[208]
4 November 2011 | 6:32 AM
Your most recent purchase
It couldn't have taken him too long. He's possibly the biggest stereotype I've ever heard of. Even Mad_Bomber, our resident Pekka Auvinen, says things that I don't expect, but I can't remember a single time when AbuseTheSoul posted something which even slightly surprised me.

[209] p. 850
4 November 2011 | 6:36 PM
Is a 20 year old fucking a 16 year old a "pedo"?
I don't think there should be any age of consent, but since no matter what I say everyone will accuse me of just wanting to justify some latent pedophilia I allegedly have, I will only say that you need to be attracted to prepubescents to be considered a pedophile. A 50-year-old who is attracted to pubescent 12-year-olds is not a pedophile; a 16-year-old who is attracted to 8-year-olds is a pedophile.

[210] p. 855
4 November 2011 | 9:24 PM

The rape of Justin Bieber

If I found the irony of this kind of statutory rape/child support nonsense in fiction, I would dismiss it as being too excessively implausible to effectively serve as satire.

[211] p. 864
5 November 2011 | 4:44 AM

Scariest Serial Killer

Serial killers are lame. Everyone knows that mass murderers are the cool kids.

[212] p. 546
7 November 2011 | 5:21 AM

RIP Travis the Chimp!

I must have forgotten about Tyke because I spend most of my time thinking about primates, but I just remembered that I saw her video several years ago. The revolution transcends taxonomic order!
http://www.heart-animals.com/2009/07/de ... phant.html
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tyke_%28elephant%29

[213] p. 868
7 November 2011 | 5:31 AM

It's Friday!

el oh el

[214] p. 810
8 November 2011 | 7:55 AM

Pumped Up Kicks

The guy who wrote Pumped Up Kicks said that the song is about an outcast teenager losing his mind while plotting revenge without any explicit violence occurring. People have interpreted that to mean that it's about a school shooting. Because of the name Robert, Robert Hawkins has now become a stereotypical poster child of school shootings. If any name other than "Robert" had been used for the song, no one would have associated Robert Hawkins with Pumped Up Kicks. If the name "Robert" had still been in the song, but Robert Hawkins had actually been 32 years old (the average age of American mass murderers in the last 20 years), again, no one would have associated him with Pumped Up Kicks. They would have instead said that "Pumped Up Kicks is surely about Robert Steinhauser", not at all because he fits in with it better than anyone else would have, but merely because his name was "Robert". At least with Robert Steinhauser, it almost sort of vaguely fits in with the interpretation many people have that the song is about school shootings.
Robert Hawkins's mass murder unquestionably was not a school shooting: he shot up an upscale shopping store. Without applying my pet theory as to the origin of mass murder, which you're accusing me of doing, anyone can see that Robert Hawkins did explicitly share the socioeconomic characteristics of much older mass murderers. Instead of approaching it through simply stereotyping him as a school shooter who was bullied by his classmates, it would thus be more accurate to approach it through simply stereotyping him as maybe being a young version of Mark Barton, with whom he shared many similarities.
http://www.independent.co.uk/news/i-don ... 09610.html
If you interpret Pumped Up Kicks to be about school shootings and you think that Robert Hawkins is a better representation for a song about "an outcast teenager losing his mind while plotting revenge without any explicit violence" than Evan Ramsey or Michael Carneal would have been; and if you think that Pumped Up Kicks has more to do with Robert Hawkins in particular than the Omaha Shopping Mall Blues does, then I don't know what I can say.
It's akin to saying that I Don't Like Mondays was about Charles Whitman. I mean, in a sense I guess it could be, but it would be absurd to say that it's a better representation of him than it is of Brenda Spencer; and if you want to think of I Don't Like Mondays being about Charles Whitman, it would be absurd to say that this song, http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rlBuoBV-Sa0 has less to do with Charles Whitman than I Don't Like Mondays does.

[Edited a month later, on 5 December 2011.]

[215] p. 546
9 November 2011 | 9:17 AM
RIP Travis the Chimp!
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=h7IdghtkKmA&t=3m47s ["Kanzi – An Ape of Genius – Part 4": an altercation between chimpanzees and a human.]

[216]
9 November 2011 | 9:26 AM
What are you listening to?
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q9AAHEAVup8 [The pianist of I Hate Mondays.]

[217] p. 872
11 November 2011 | 9:40 AM
Jeffrey Dahmer's last intended victim charged with murder
How incompetent does his attorney have to be to bring up Humpty Dumpty when he's being charged with throwing someone off of a bridge?

[218] p. 877
12 November 2011 | 7:44 PM
Are you left-handed or right-handed?
Ambisinistrous. :(

[219]
17 November 2011 | 2:45 PM
"Pedophile's Guide" pulled from Amazon
I don't see how he sounds crazy at all in this.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ihDr2w46swY&t=1m07s

[220] p. 547
23 November 2011 | 10:22 PM
RIP Travis the Chimp!
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QbxYFKjpPl0
[Dead link, apparently a video of Travis's owner or Charla Nash (per Google).]

[221] p. 652
24 November 2011 | 7:33 PM
Forum crushes..
I'm assuming you're a baby due to your name.

[222] p. 895
24 November 2011 | 7:36 PM
Confessions
Eek, marriage and natural in the same sentence makes me cringe.

[223] p. 653
24 November 2011 | 7:42 PM
Forum crushes..
Babies can't be xenomorphs.

[224] p. 811
25 November 2011 | 10:55 PM
Pumped Up Kicks
"I thought that this eerily sounded like a Britney Spears song, and I turned out to not be the only one.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oD1lMo5MBpI" [Dead link.]

[225] p. 908
26 November 2011 | 9:56 PM
Did Eric shave his head?
Eric shaved his hair because he was tired of women lustfully tearing it out while he was making love to them, and Dylan had long hair so that his fringe could shield him from the sorrows of the world.

[226] p. 926
28 November 2011 | 12:16 AM
Favorite movie scene Probably this.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KFbmYyVcaeQ&t=38m02s
[DON'T Go in the House clip.]

[227] p. 929
28 November 2011 | 11:54 PM
Grandma shot while cooking Thanksgiving dinner Cause Santa Claus is coming to town.
http://www.bittenandbound.com/2008/12/2 ... le-photos/

[228]
29 November 2011 | 8:58 AM
Elizabeth Bush article.
Angelic_Cacaphony knew her. I'm sure that a ton of her relevant posts have been deleted, though.

http://www.columbinegame.com/discuss/pr ... le&u=11975

[229] 2 December 2011 | 1:30 PM

Topic for all Columbine-related movies/tv shows
A deleted scene from Klass:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Yrcihe4VRrQ

[230] 2 December 2011 | 4:42 PM

Richard Farley footage
Post Richard Farley footage http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9fMH5O-SSCk http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JvuhvqW3lSk
I had only seen two photographs and one video before this.
http://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/e ... Farley.jpg http://www.truthmedia.8k.com/images/laurablack.jpg http://www.liveleak.com/view?i=f44_1172095609 http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Richard_Farley http://columbinegame.com/discuss/viewtopic.php?t=4205
ESL's 11k:
http://caselaw.findlaw.com/ca-supreme-c ... 95931.html
The best "The following is based on a true story" movie I've seen:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1XhhFVDhv4g
And here's some fun website:
http://turbulence.org/Works/stalkingsocial/blacknwhite/

[231] 4 December 2011 | 9:44 AM

Oh hey , its December
A cupcake? You should have baked my oatmealberry chocochipeanuts.
http://columbinegame.com/discuss/viewtopic.php?t=6095

[232] p. 813 4 December 2011 | 10:37 AM

Pumped Up Kicks
Other than the whole "Robert" thing, the only indication that Pumped Up Kicks could be about Robert Hawkins in particular is that he used his stepfather's Kalashnikov; but that's not something unique to him because, according to the best information that I have available, around 75% of American <25-year-old mass shooters used firearms which they didn't legally own, compared to around 25% of American >24-year-old mass shooters. Instead of being an explicit reference to Robert Hawkins, it could just be a throwaway reference to a common aspect of young mass shooters.
Anyway, diverging from my whining, I serendipitously rediscovered Robert C. Bonelli Jr. after having forgotten about him for a while.
http://goathillstudio.com/albums/media% ... oto_13.jpg
The only explicit information that I could find about him regarding his teenage years was that he had dropped out of high school at age 16. At age 24, he was an extremely shy outsider who was constantly worried about being picked on for being reportedly 260 pounds at 5'10". His duplex neighbor said that he was "the kind of kid who gets picked on in high school". His uncle said that he had an inferiority complex, always being self-conscious about the way he looked, his weight, and how no girl would ever want him. Along with being depressed for many previous years, he had been having trouble with alcohol and drug abuse.
He spent almost all of his time alone in his room where he kept "a shrine of Columbine memorabilia", which included newspaper clippings, "TV documentaries about 'the darker side' of Columbine", and news accounts & pictures printed from the internet, along with a picture of Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold taped to his wall. He had a video which included him building and exploding pipe bombs with two other local dropouts, one of whom's girlfriend said that he had frequently spoken about killing himself.
It's rumored that he also had multiple bootlegs of the album which contains this song:

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=I6sZokeNzYw&t=16s
If he didn't actually have it, I'm sure that he would have if he had known about it.
He repeatedly took cocaine early in the morning of Sunday, February 13, 2005. Possibly precipitated by a girl rejecting his friendship several days earlier, he decided to kill himself. Dressed in black, he left a suicide note at his house, borrowed his father's car, and drove to the Hudson River with the Hesse Model 47 he had legally bought at a gun show four months earlier. He held the rifle to his head but couldn't kill himself. He drove around aimlessly, and saw a police car in the parking lot of the Hudson Valley Mall in Kingston, New York. He decided to get the police to publicly kill him.
He wrote a second suicide note at some point and left it in his car. The only information I could find on either of them was from the second one, which included the Dylan quote, "The lonely man strikes with absolute rage". He had written somewhere (I don't know any details) that he had been wanting to do this before the Columbine anniversary. About an hour prior to the shooting, he went to a Walmart to buy ammunition and returned to the mall. He considered waiting until the coming Monday to do it at a school, but demonstrably decided against it. He parked in front of the Best Buy (presumably the most convenient entrance, going by Google satellite) and sat in his car for twenty minutes. Just before 3:15 PM, he picked up his rifle and walked toward the mall.
He shot three times at the front door, which caused ricocheting bullet fragments and shrapnel to superficially hit his first victim. The victim's daughter's purse and pants were each penetrated once, but she remained uninjured. Once he entered the Best Buy, he spent the next seven minutes aimlessly shooting in the store. He never shot from the shoulder and most of the bullets struck the ceiling and floor. The most aiming he did involved shooting from his hip at televisions and blank walls. He had many opportunities to shoot people but bypassed all of them. He reloaded once and eventually left the Best Buy, entering the main corridor where he spent the next two minutes shooting out store displays while walking toward the center of the mall. It was here that he shot his second victim in the knee. When he had expended all of his ammunition, he dropped his rifle and calmly surrendered. He was subsequently sentenced to 32 years in prison.
Robert Bonelli and Robert Hawkins (who both went by Robbie) both used AK-47 variants (although Bonelli's was a very cheap model), and both of them had two 30-round magazines (although Bonelli's weren't fancily jungle-taped together like Hawkins's). While Robert Hawkins used 2/3 of it and killed eight people and injured four, Robert Bonelli used all of it, but only directly shot one person and indirectly shot a second. The only time that I'm aware of Robert Hawkins deliberately shooting at anything other than a human was when he shot a teddy bear, but none of Robert Bonelli's shots were deliberate. Likewise, I cannot seeing anything which indicated that Robert Hawkins had been significantly affected by (the conventional interpretation of) bullying nor peer rejection, but Robert Bonelli seems to be a different case.
If any "Robert" fits in with the school shooting interpretation of the song about "an outcast teenager losing his mind while plotting revenge without any explicit violence", it's Robert Bonelli, not Robert Hawkins. The only issue is that he was 24 years old, not a teenager; but Robert Hawkins was practically the same age, being less than a half a year from 20. Anyway, "teenager" was my word, with the Pumped Up Kicks guy always saying "kid" and "youth".
Robert Bonelli still doesn't fit in with it better than Evan Ramsey or Michael Carneal would. And Pumped Up Kicks is still a really lame song.

[233] p. 954
4 December 2011 | 7:23 PM

High School policies/bans after Columbine?
I was just thinking this morning about Virginia Tech and your age group. It feels strange how vtreviewpanel.org has been offline for months as if everything about the shooting is over and done with and no one would notice its absence. It still seems so recent, but it happened 1/3 of your life ago. Do you know how aware your peers are of it? Do you personally have any memories of it?

[234] p. 958
5 December 2011 | 10:44 AM
Psychopathy? [Thread started by Lanza.]
Serious question: Is there any distinction between the usage of "He had the devil in him" and the marginally more nuanced "He was afflicted by psychopathy"?

[235] p. 962
5 December 2011 | 4:16 PM
This day in history
Wednesday, December 5, 2007
Robert A. Hawkins "goes out in style" by bringing his stepfather's Kalashnikov to the Westroads Mall in Omaha Nebraska, killing eight and injuring four before killing himself.
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Westroads_Mall_shooting http://www.thesmokinggun.com/file/omaha ... tes?page=0 http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pU5f2lIKf-E http://ia700600.us.archive.org/1/items/ ... 587218.mp3 http://abcnews.go.com/GMA/video?id=3994163
A photograph of him when he was four.
http://a1.ec-images.myspacecdn.com/imag ... fe6f/l.jpg
A photograph of him when he was six, with his sister, Valencia.
http://a3.ec-images.myspacecdn.com/imag ... 4c81/l.jpg
And from 2007:
A photograph of his stepfather (Mark) and his younger sisters, Kira and Valencia.
http://a3.ec-images.myspacecdn.com/imag ... 70c2/l.jpg
A photograph of his older sister, Cynthia.
http://a3.ec-images.myspacecdn.com/imag ... ed3a/l.jpg
I don't know who Zach and Cayla are, but this is a photograph of them.
http://a2.ec-images.myspacecdn.com/imag ... b48d/l.jpg

[236] p. 977
5 December 2011 | 8:12 PM
What are you watching right now?
That was State's Evidence (2006). It was only one of them who wanted to do the school shooting.

[In response to post: "Wondering if someone can help me find the movie I'm looking for. I've watched it before but can't remember the name of it. A group of teens plan to shoot up their school or kill themselves in it (can't remember which) but change their mind. One of the kids gets pissed and shoots up the school in the end. I believe the shooter also rapes a young girl earlier in the movie."]

[237] p. 987
6 December 2011 | 2:30 AM
a touching video about being bullied http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HyaV5q-3DGk

[238] p. 992
7 December 2011 | 12:57 AM
You know what I hate!?!?
Culture. I've been pissed out of my mind all night thinking about it. I should have been born a chimp. I would even settle for a post-language hunter-gatherer society.

[239] p. 547
7 December 2011 | 1:31 AM
RIP Travis the Chimp!
Enculturing human children is already terrifying enough, but enculturing other apes is something out of the cruelest nightmare. I don't know of anything more worthy of crying over. Rest in peace, little buddy. You're free from the rape of civilization now.

[240] p. 547
10 December 2011 | 2:02 PM
RIP Travis the Chimp!
I should call in on John Zerzan's radio program about Travis. I'm really surprised that I haven't been able to find anything he's written or said about the incident, considering how often he brings up random acts of violence. It seems like Travis would be a poster-chimp of his philosophy.

[241] 10 December 2011 | 1:58 PM

Well known photo's that struck you?
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=s9A51jN19zw

[Tiananmen Square "tank man" photo, in response to someone who mentioned it.]

[242] p. 1,012 10 December 2011 | 7:30 PM

Jury won't indict teacher for Columbine threat [4/20/2011]
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2010_Unive ... e_shooting

[243] p. 1,022 10 December 2011 | 1:56 PM

Shots fired at Virginia Tech again.
This doesn't seem at all notable as far as "school violence" goes compared to when that guy beheaded that other student at Virginia Tech.

[244] p. 1,012 10 December 2011 | 7:57 PM

Jury won't indict teacher for Columbine threat [4/20/2011]
I can't really remember too much about her offhand, but I don't think she had anything to do with the Columbine archetype of mass murderers and never referenced it. The TruTV article was good if you want to learn more about her.
http://www.trutv.com/library/crime/noto ... hop/1.html

[245] p. 1,027 11 December 2011 | 10:32 PM

Do you hate Comic Sans?
I hate every facet of language, along with the entire concept of aesthetics.

[246] p. 1,034 11 December 2011 | 10:33 PM

You know what I hate!?!?
I spent all day ruminating over how much I hate culture. Now I've calmed down and am left lying on the floor, numbly perplexed over the foreign concept of loving life.

[247] 12 December 2011 | 11:22 AM

Where would you live?
Any place and any time before language infected humans.

[248] 12 December 2011 | 11:42 PM

Disturbing Films and Literature
The Stepford Wives (1975) upset me. Gory shockumentaries are a joke compared to the terror of cultural indoctrination.

[249] p. 1,058 12 December 2011 | 11:46 PM

What are you reading?
In the Shadow of Man.

[250] 13 December 2011 | 7:48 PM

Where would you live?
Now wombats, they're a completely different story.

[251] p. 1,065 13 December 2011 | 5:59 PM

Immortals
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=u5eUIc1dTWY

[252] p. 1,078 14 December 2011 | 2:03 PM

Reveal Your Inner Nerd !
Don't bother. I barely play any video games, let alone any modern ones, but I bought it because it was being universally described as the most immersive virtual world to have ever existed. In actuality, every aspect of the game is designed solely around the facilitation of its mindless combat system. I was so disappointed that I got 6000 words into typing a review lambasting everything about it until I realized that my disappointment was my fault for being so foolish as to allow myself to be excited, especially over something that I should have known would be awful.

[Referring to the PC game Skyrim.]

[253] p. 1,086 14 December 2011 | 2:06 PM

Two dead in Belgian shooting.
This is the only massacre I can think of where the amount injured was significantly higher than in the initial reports, instead of the normal drastic reduction.

[254] p. 529
14 December 2011 | 2:07 PM

How did you find this forum?
There was a student from Columbine who posted here years ago, I think in 2007 or 2008. He apparently got in some trouble for saying how much he hated DeAngelis, or something like that. I'm sure MnM remembers it better than I do.

[255] p. 1,092
14 December 2011 | 2:33 PM

You know what I've always wanted to do?
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AyECnddUOkQ&t=0m45s Although since there were two of them, I guess they wouldn't need it.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qEYZTuAvO2w&t=3m32s

[Clip from the 2009 film Rampage, which is about a mass shooting, and a scene from Klass.]

[256] p. 1,101
16 December 2011 | 5:01 AM

Dreams
Today I dreamt a Columbine reference for the first time. I've probably never had one before because I've scarcely ever cared about Columbine.
I began my dream by waking up at age 14 in my extremely dark bedroom during a power outage. I knew that there were ghoulies outside my locked door, roaming around the rest of the house. I tried to get my pocket flashlight to work, but it wasn't consistently staying on. Replacement batteries didn't help, so I instead tried using my backup flashlight: a partially-filled roll of dimes. I spent a while fumbling around with loose dimes, trying to fill up the roll, and eventually "my brother" came up to the other side of the locked door. He told me that he needed my help with the ghoulies. I was saying, "Oh, fuck off. I know you're not my brother. You yourself are one of the ghoulies", as I was continuing to fumble around trying to fill the roll of dimes. I ended up not having enough dimes to entirely fill it, but at least I had enough for it to give off a dim ray of light. I got out of bed and prepared for a fight with the ghoulies. I went downstairs as my flashlight dream-vanished, but at this point the rest of the house was dimly lit anyway. As I was about to go into the kitchen, a huge purple monster with long arms leapt forth from around a corner and pinned me against a wall. It sort of looked like this:
http://www.raukusbaukus.com/images/grap ... ilcher.jpg
I realized that it was some student I knew when I was 12. He tried talking to me, and basically said something to the extent of, "Everyone picked on me for being a huge purple monster, and so now I'm going to go Columbine. I already went to a bunch of other kids' houses to find a partner, but they refused my offer, so I ate them. You're next on the list. Do you want to join me?". The way it apparently worked was that I could get bitten by him and then choose which form I wanted to be in at will. I thought, why not get bitten by him so I could become a cool purple monster whenever I pleased, and then just use my new monster powers to kill him right after he bites me? So I was like, "Sure, bro". He kept trying to bite different parts of me, but it always ended in me whining, "Ooowwwwwww", he would let go, look at the spot, and say, "I didn't bite long enough! It didn't work". We went through this for quite a while, and then I had the thought that, "You shouldn't just bite me -anywhere-. It should be high up on my arm so people don't see the mark, the same reason why doctors inject patients on their arm (dream logic). He rolled up my sleeve, pointed at my vein, and I said, "No! Doctors would find out because they inject there, of course! It has to be higher". He kept pointing to various places as we were walking around the house, but none of them seemed suitable to me. He gradually dream-changed into having an awfully-constructed syringe in his hand with all sorts of bent needles all over it, and I procrastinated by getting him to talk about the music he liked. I had decided at this point that I should just kill him rather than wait to get turned into a cool therianthrope because his needles were really starting to freak me out. Then I realized, "Hey, if you were feigning my brother's voice, then that means you must have killed him!"
I ran down to the basement as he was assuring me he hadn't done anything, and I saw my brother soundly asleep. I went back up the stairs and saw an opportunity to kill the huge purple monster, seeing as he had transformed into a cardboard box. I shred apart the box as dawn approached while he was complaining about how confusing I was. "All the other students just screamed at me, but you accepted me, and now what are you doing? You're tearing me apart!", and I told him to shut up or something like that as I tore apart the last bit of cardboard.

My brother walked up the stairs, but it wasn't really him! He had been brainwashed into believing that he was someone else from my childhood, whom I'll call Billy, and he had even been made up to look sort of like him. I asked him who he thought he was, and sure enough he said Billy, and that he was moving away to college. I followed him into the garage, trying to find a way to convince him that he wasn't Billy before it was too late. Once I entered the garage, my nonexistent kindergarten-age sister was blocking my path while crying for some reason. I affectionately embraced her in my arms and tenderly kissed her. She woefully said, "I don't want you to kiss me" as her crying got worse. I was annoyed that she had been brainwashed into thinking there was something evil about kissing, so I picked her up and tossed her over the railing into a pile of cardboard boxes several feet below.

Heroically getting back to the task at hand, I looked out at the open garage door, where there were all sorts of non-existent relatives assembling outside in the full-blown morning. There was some fictional high-status male family member at the garage door reading from a scroll in his hands. He was giving the eulogy for my "dead" brother! There were some assorted people in the garage who were walking toward the outside, and I saw that among them were two pastors. My horror movie experience indicated that pastors help with all sorts of ghoulie problems, so I called them over and explained that my brother wasn't actually dead. They were shocked and agreed to help stop the ceremony. One of them followed me toward the eulogizer, but at this point, the garage was significantly larger and was extremely crowded, to the extent where I couldn't even pass anyone. Everyone stopped walking as they turned to look behind us at someone who was walking forward. It was apparently her birthday, so the only logical thing to do was hum the wedding march. The pastor and I sighed as we hummed with them, waiting for them to move forward again. The song ended, she stopped, and said, "I'm glad that you're all here today".

Various views of multiple explosions went through my mind, and at the end of it, a third-person overhead stationary view showed some WASPs in a residential park doing all sorts of recreational activities. Text appeared saying, "At least now there was plenty of space for racquetball". I realized that I had been watching a YouTube video, part 11/11. I thought, "Wow, that was a pretty surreal movie. I'm bookmarking this and I'll go back to look at the other parts later". I woke up in real life and realized that YouTube would remove the videos from their website along with all internet references to them by the time that I managed to get online, so I typed this for posterity.

[257] p. 1,123
17 December 2011 | 6:10 AM

Teachers on power trips

The power trips that you describe are going to be so prominent because of the entire philosophy behind education: the brutal indoctrination of pristine minds so as to propagate some delusional system of cultural values.

[258] p. 1,124
17 December 2011 | 6:38 AM

Teachers on power trips

Is it really so ideal to have good and efficient citizens? All they'll do is be more effective at propagating the system you hate. Power trips and bullying are just symptoms, not the disease itself.

[259] p. 1,137
18 December 2011 | 3:19 AM

Cumbria shootings

I'm surprised that there haven't been any changes to gun control considering that there were after Michael Ryan and Thomas Hamilton.

[260] p. 1,145
18 December 2011 | 9:14 AM

The Accent Thread
Now that you've made this topic, everyone is going to be bitching over who they think has the best accent. Expect another 500 posts in the Drama topic.

[261] p. 1,158
20 December 2011 | 10:26 AM

Burn all the PS3, Wii, 360, Flatscreens, Smart phones, ipads
Literature is simply another coping mechanism for children who've been mindfucked by culturapists. They're carried to other worlds in the stream of semen.

[262] p. 547
21 December 2011 | 3:47 AM

RIP Travis the Chimp!
Well, I feel schizophrenic.

[263] p. 547
21 December 2011 | 1:11 PM

RIP Travis the Chimp!
"My call starts at 38:00.
http://www.archive.org/search.php?query ... 12-20-2011
It didn't go as horribly as I anticipated. I wish that I hadn't spoken nonstop about Travis for so long, but I didn't want to seem crazy by randomly bringing up a chimpanzee for unknown reasons. And despite my failed attempt at having a normal voice, I at least sounded less incoherent than usual. I normally speak much softer and swifter, with less articulation, less inflection, and more mumbling."

[A transcript of Lanza's radio appearance is available: see the document "Adam Lanza's Call to AnarchyRadio" on schoolshooters.info.]

[264]
23 December 2011 | 5:37 AM

Norway Massacre : The Killer's Mind Documentary
The difference is that Anders Breivik is a political reationary whose propaganda of the deed just happened to involve mass murder. I think he has more to do with political assassins who attacked single targets than he has to do with 99% of mass shooters; even ones like Baruch Goldstein.

[265] p. 1,174
23 December 2011 | 7:04 AM

The random question thread...
How many American women in this decade never remove their body hair? I can't find practically anything on it, and the implication seems to be that it's around 1%.

[266] p. 1,162
23 December 2011 | 10:11 AM

Guilty Musical Pleasures
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aZHPS6q74BU

[267] p. 1,174
23 December 2011 | 10:37 AM

The random question thread...
"?:(
I think you misread that."

[268] p. 1,186
25 December 2011 | 8:16 PM

You know what I hate!?!?
Value is such a crazy thing.

[269] p. 1,186
25 December 2011 | 9:07 PM

You know what I hate!?!?
"I hate going through these extremely rare instances of wild mood swings that I have. I think this was the only time this year for me. I was as depressed as I get during my last post, and I'm fine with the interminable depression that I normally have, but now I'm incoherently giddy with glee. Well, relative to my baseline... Except now that I'm giddy, I can't really say that I hate it because I think everything is delightful.
If depressives cut themselves to feel better, I wonder what cutting a happy-go-lucker would do. Santa's supposed to be jolly. I hope he visits me tonight so I can find out."

[270] p. 1,196
27 December 2011 | 11:35 AM

13 Families or 15 Families?
14 families. Eric was a monster

[271] p. 1,218
27 December 2011 | 11:48 AM

New Year's Resolutions for 2012
Pfft, goals are artificial impositions of deprivation. I'm content to mope on the floor 24/7.

[272] p. 1,336
27 December 2011 | 1:02 PM

What's up with transhumanists?
"Until 2006, I just knew that there was some time when two bullied kids went to their high school library and shot everyone who wore hats.
That's still pretty much all I know.
?:("

[273] p. 943
28 December 2011 | 8:38 PM

Topic for all Columbine-related movies/tv shows
"I've been looking through the many movies and shows listed here that I hadn't seen, and Grey's Anatomy season 7 episode 11 ""Disarm"" references a shooting at the hospital earlier in the series. It turns out that the lovechild of Clay Duke and Robert Stewart was in season 6 episodes 23 & 24, tearing apart all the love dodecahedra.
And earlier I forgot to add Klass: Elu pÃ¤rast. I don't recommend it to anyone who saw Klass."

[274] p. 1,193
29 December 2011 | 1:43 AM

You know what I hate!?!?
I hate having to take a moment to think if I mean "east" or "west", every single time.

[275] p. 1,231
29 December 2011 | 4:43 AM

Where did you get your sig?
"I can never hear ""Bon Jovi"" without thinking of Danilo Guades, one of the most prolific non-shooting mass murderers, who flaunted a giant effigy of Bon Jovi on the shirt he wore during his attack.
http://www.vg.no/nyheter/utenriks/artik ... tid=140575"

[276] p. 1,221
29 December 2011 | 4:10 PM

What's up with transhumanists?
I don't have any clue what transhumanists are thinking. My wet dream is living in the wild with apes, and theirs is living in a computer with AI. What's the mindset behind transhumanism?

[277] p. 1,243
29 December 2011 | 6:45 PM

You know what I hate!?!?
What is "chemical imbalance" even supposed to mean? Why don't hunter-gatherers need antidepressants? I swear, a psychiatrist could take a perfectly fine chimpanzee away from its jungle, confine it in captivity, and when the chimp gets depressed, they would say, "This chimpanzee has a chemical imbalance. What? A correlation between enculturation and depression? But culture brings us meaning and beauty. Get out of my way, caveman-wannabe. I need to prescribe this chimp some Xanax".

[278] p. 1,221
29 December 2011 | 11:33 PM

What's up with transhumanists?
I entirely recognize that value is a delusion. I'm not condemning them: I genuinely want to understand why they love technology. I can't at all relate to why they desire even more civilization than the amount that's already been imposed onto them.

[279] p. 1,244
29 December 2011 | 11:37 PM

You know what I hate!?!?
Only if you factor in infant mortality, but that's even more of an indication why they should be needing antidepressants, not the opposite. And yet somehow, it's we domesticated humans that need antidepressants while hunter-gatherers are the happy ones.

[280] p. 1,248
30 December 2011 | 5:04 AM

You know what I hate!?!?
I hate how I spend 99% of my time upset about culture, when life itself is the problem. Culture just adds insult to injury.

[281] p. 1,259
30 December 2011 | 2:11 AM

Any of you actually watched this?

:(

[Responding to another user who had posted: "She's 14.. I'm 19.. relax I'm not Smiggles I don't have a 'boner' for her personally."]

[282] p. 1,270
24 February 2012 | 8:37 AM

Topic for all Columbine-related movies/tv shows

"Oh, dear God. The school shooter in the episode of Homicide: Life on the Streets was the host of the children's show Blues Clues. I guess going away to school didn't turn out too well for him.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xlwxXObnR-g&t=0m05s
This tragedy could have been prevented. Steve showed all of the warning signs.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=N1wUirNlR0U Anyway, since Megaupload is gone, here's Mad_Bomber's list:
https://rapidshare.com/files/3734858298/tv_updated.rtf
I've now seen all of the fiction mentioned in these topics except for the following. PM me if you know of a free non-torrent source for any of these in English audio or with English subtitles:
Death Scenes 2 (1992)
La classe de neige (1998) (I found something under this title that was also about a ski trip, but it was a gay porno. Maybe I just don't understand French cinema, but it seemed like a rather liberal interpretation of ""shooting"". ?:( )
Detention: The Siege at Johnson High (1997)
Heart of America (2002)
Prelude (2003)
American Yearbook (2004)
Purgatory House (2004)
The Division - Zero Tolerance - S04E21 (2004)
Empire Falls (2005)
Why (2006)
Ekskul (2006)
The Janitor's Office (2007)
Himo kiusata (2009)
Little Angels (?)
And here are some others which haven't been mentioned:
Massacre at Central High (1976)
http://www.imdb.com/title/tt0074875/
The more allegorical precursor to Heathers.
Degrassi High - Show Time: Part 1 - S02E10
Proto-emo.
Law & Order - Deadlock - S17E09
Eduardo Sencion meets Hank Carr meets Maksim Gelman meets Karel Charva (meets Jack Ruby?) in this orgasm of mass murder. Well, at least by generic-investigative-drama standards.
Law & Order- Rubber Room - S20E23
Over-the-top Columbine references, although they forgot to include the one about police negligence.
Gilmore Girls - Like Mother, Like Daughter - S02E07
Several references in the beginning to trench-coated loners with duffel bags.
The Inbetweeners - The Fashion Show - S03E01
A throwaway joke,
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=o_bgKZZ1LQY&t=1m51s
There's also a pudgy balding British pederast named Tom who has the surname of a prominent American politician and goes around undressing boys. A reference to Tom Hamilton?

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AkI6Tgultxk&t=10m48s
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AkI6Tgultxk&t=13m51s
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=o_bgKZZ1LQY&t=8m01s
And three docudramas:
Hostage: Do or Die - Negotiating with a Mad Man - S01E02
Hank Carr, although I don't really consider him a mass murderer.
Hostage: Do or Die - Palm Bay Rampage - S01E03
William Cruse; fairly retro.
Hostage: Do or Die - Lindhurst High School - S01E05
Eric Houston; a surrogate for the unattainable Detention: The Siege at Johnson High?
And a movie based on David Gray, which I didn't think was particularly enjoyable, but still way better than what I remember of Polytechnique:
Out of the Blue (2006)
http://www.imdb.com/title/tt0839938/
And although Horror High (1974) doesn't involve a school shooting, it's the earliest depiction of a high-school-outcast-turned-murderer that I know of, released half a year before Bad Ronald (1974) (and was filmed in the same year as the book was published); and while Bad Ronald is more on the serial killer side, Horror High deals more with the school shooter archetype, indicated in lines as explicit as, ""All my life, I've been bothered and pushed around by the 'Rogers'... Well, not anymore! Now they're afraid of me!"". And at 53:25, I think we've heard that a bunch of times:
http://www.putlocker.com/file/1E917512C28A7E68
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=48u_mo0i4qI&t=1m16s
And this has nothing to do with anything... But I just thought that there was a cute resemblance between Ben in Willard (1971) and wittle Mr. Mumps. Everyone loves rodents!~
http://farm6.static.flickr.com/5097/544 ... d1ca93.jpg http://www.mondo-digital.com/horrorhigh2big.jpg"

[283] p. 763
24 February 2012 | 12:45 PM

Earliest movie portrayal of a mass/spree shooting?
"I found it!~
Massacre at Central High (1976)
http://www.imdb.com/title/tt0074875/"

[284] p. 1,277
24 February 2012 | 12:50 PM

I came across a Chris Helms YouTube comment [Thread started by Lanza.]
"I was looking through the comments on the ""Michale Graves - Nobody Thinks About Me"" video and did a double take when I thought I recognized someone.
even though their solution to being bullied wasnt the best of choices, i still feel worse for eric and dylan than anyone else in that school! their lives were so bad, they couldnt go a full day without being physically abused by jocks or made fun of by anyone else. their nicknames were the outcasts! but god, they kill 13 people and bullies still dont undertand the consequences of their actions! there have already been 5 school shootings in the US this year! one at harvard! people need to lay off
BboyZero100 1 year ago (4 likes)
He was probably talking about Mitchell Heisman's 9/18/2010 suicide, which means that he would've typed this very shortly before his 9/21/2010 school shooting.
http://www.youtube.com/all_comments?v=eyva-Ox40pg"

[285] p. 1,279
24 February 2012 | 12:53 PM

Whatever happened to Kenneth Eng? [Thread started by Lanza.]
"This is the last that I heard of him:
http://blogs.villagevoice.com/runninsca ... _kenne.php http://blogs.villagevoice.com/runninsca ... ng_thr.php
I have the video that he uploaded after Virginia Tech in case anyone wants it. It doesn't seem to be anywhere on the internet anymore."

[286] p. 1,278
24 February 2012 | 9:38 PM

I came across a Chris Helms YouTube comment

That's weird. I know that the Latest Activity date can be glitchy, but assuming that it's right, then I don't know who he could be talking about other than Mitchell Heisman. Maybe he thought that there was a school shooting at Harvard because Amy Bishop got her PhD there. Does anyone have any ideas?

[287] p. 1,281
24 February 2012 | 10:02 PM

A plane to Barbados, $5,000,000, and a Togo's sandwich [Thread started by Lanza.]

I was recently thinking about how hostage situations so very often involve demands for a getaway. Is there a single modern instance when non-state hostage takers have successfully gotten a non-sabotaged automobile/helicopter/whatever from negotiators?

[288] p. 1,290
26 February 2012 | 11:51 PM

You know what I hate!?!?

"I hate how life-apologists say (or rather, the very few of them who do anything other than mock you), ""Life isn't all suffering. What about the simple pleasures, like eating ice cream?""
They always use that example. Even if I didn't recognize the flaws in their assertion, when I think of ice cream, I can only see a repugnant lump of pus crushed out of cows' bloody nipples, who spend their entire lives confined in filth, where they're periodically raped so that they're incessantly pregnant, after which their calves are seized from them, destined to live the life of veal, with their only relief being an early death. From there, I always ride the pessimism train down different tracks until it inevitably leads me to contemplating over 500 million years of animals cannibalizing each other. Excuse me for not being thrilled by the extra jimmies on my ice cream cone."

[289] p. 1,301
27 February 2012 | 11:32 AM

Totally random

"http://kimbofo.typepad.com/.a/6a00d8345 ... 970c-300wi Mesmerizing."

[290]
28 February 2012 | 7:45 AM

Any of you know of any others that are not on this list?

"http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=De-tIflr4E0&t=7m50s
There have been many that aren't on that list, although I'm not very familiar with them. I think I remember this having a lot listed:
http://signofthetimes.yuku.com/topic/1291
There were two teenagers who were arrested after one of them left their journal in a McDonald's, as memorialized by Sabratha's Bullet Time.
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tlgDhcbJRoY&t=5m55s
One of them was caught a second time a couple years later with another student."

[291] p. 1,316
28 February 2012 | 12:51 PM

Anxiety and fear in American society: a history

> Elisabell wrote:
> Fact is: school shootings are not common occasions, and have steadily decreased from their peak.
> It is incredibly debatable whether or not societal factors had an effect or in some way influenced Columbine, and to be honest I think it wouldn't have made any difference if the high school was a utopia. I see it as two teenagers who were not well in any sense of the word acting for little to no reason whatsoever.
> Honestly the "society is shitty" commentary just seems a little much for me. Unless I'm misunderstanding your point.

"I could go in a hundred different ways with this, but I'll try to make it as entirely relevant to AS55's post as I can, instead of rambling about chimpanzees and who-knows-what-else. Columbine wasn't an isolated incident: it was the apex of a string of school shootings which began increasing with Lu Gang and Wayne Lo in the early 1990s. Despite American students committing fewer school shootings in 2000-2009 than they did in 1990-1999, the rate of attempts actually increased beyond their pre-Columbine level. Columbine caused Americans to begin taking the potential for school shootings seriously, and thus many attempts which were expected to have been carried out have instead been prevented. And since 1999, there has been an increase in foreign school massacres committed in countries where, as Sabratha's Bullet Time phrases it, there isn't the ""operational history"" of Columbine.

In any event, it's myopic to telescope on school shootings when they've comprised a small percentage of the larger trend of mass murders, which are carried out in all sorts of contexts; but they always occur in contexts which involve some permutation of alienation, which has been part and parcel with societal ""progress"". This relationship can be seen with the Chinese mass stabbings. There were some sparse incidents throughout the 20th century, but the rate began to rise in the 1990s and erupted in the early 2000s, corresponding to China's rapid ""economic development"", culminating in the infamous spate of elementary school stabbings of 2010.
American mass murders were less prevalent before Richard Speck precipitated their rise in 1966. My best estimate for the -absolute- minimum amount of mass murders in the US since 1966 is 960. I would be surprised if there weren't a minimum of somewhere around 1500 in reality, but we'll just vaguely say that there have been over 1000. If you were trying to measure alienation in a society, what could be a more blatant indication? And it's glib to dismiss them as not being indicative of anything just because there have been over a thousand of them instead of over a hundred thousand, or however many you think are necessary, because mass murdering is so ridiculously over-the-top of a response that very few people are prone to do it under any circumstances. But just look at how many fans you can find for all different types of mass murderersâ€"not just the Reb & VoDkA bunchâ€", and beyond these fans are countless more people who can sympathize with them; and beyond these are millions more who never think of relating the circumstances of their lives to anyone else but instead just go through the motions of life incessantly dissatisfied with their environment.
Thinking of this society as the default state of existence is the reason why you think that humans would be ""not well"" for ""no reason whatsoever"". Civilization has not been present for 99% of the existence of hominids, and the only way that it's ever sustained is by indoctrinating each new child for years on end. The ""wellness"" that you speak of is solely defined by a child's submission to this process and their subsequent capacity to propagate civilization themselves. When civilization exists in a form where all forms of alienation (among many other things) are rampant, as can be seen in the most recent incarnation within the last fifty years which AS55 talked about, new children will end up ""not well"" in all sorts of ways. You don't even have to touch a topic as cryptic as mass murder to see an indication of this: you can look at a single symptom as egregious as the proliferation of antidepressants. And look in your own life. You've said that you're afflicted by unrelenting anxiety and that you're afraid to leave your house. Do you really think that the way you feel is not symptomatic of anything other than your own inexplicable defectiveness?
http://www.spunk.org/texts/writers/zerzan/sp001182.txt
http://www.spunk.org/texts/writers/zerzan/sp001183.txt"